

A discussion with the YI steering group

Sustain your programme

The most effective youth programmes are the ones that keep going over time, especially if they become a permanent part of the institution. The programme is more likely to develop and improve when the institution “owns” it.

Take some time with your steering group to pause and reflect on the YI programme. Ask key people for feedback and consult your evaluations.

Ask yourselves:

-  What are we doing well?
-  What could we do better?
-  What would it take to make improvements?
-  How can we expand the effort and deepen the impact?
